If an average Stanford guy/girl asks you to have coffee or lunch after conversing for a few minutes, would you accept? Why or why not?

- 1. she's probably superfine.
- 2. I have nothing better to do (still I would first have to be interested and secondly I really would have to have nothing better to do)
- 3. i like people and im curious
- 4. i am always willing to get to know people better and see if there is anything worth pursuing
- 5. low key, no pressure, why not?
- 6. I would sorry for them, and would be encouraged to for the simple fact that they worked up enough nerve to ask. That takes guts!!!
- 7. I like meeting new people.
- 8. why
- 9. there's nothing to lose by going. Damn, I wish someone would ask me.
- 10. why not
- 11. that never happens. If the chance came I'd have to take it.
- 12. it's fun to meet new people.
- 13. its cool to meet other people, but I would let them know that I'm in a relationship
- 14. Everyone's gotta eat and I love coffee
- 15. sure, it's just coffee
- 16. I take it as a friendly gesture, and it's always good to meet new people. I don't assume things immediately
- 17. it's always fun to meet new people
- 18. I have nothing to lose
- 19. life is boring right now
- 20. even if they aren't cute they're probably cool enough to chat with
- 21. its fun meeting new people
- 22. coffee or lunch is harmless
