If an average Stanford guy/girl asks you to have coffee or lunch after conversing for a few minutes, would you accept? Why or why not?

- 1. its rude to decline an invitation
- 2. you never know :)
- 3. Free Meal
- 4. it's so rare that I would want to go out on a date just to have the experience, regardless of weather I liked the guy or not
- 5. nothing to loose. You never know a person until you try to get to know them.
- 6. if (s)he's interesting and I'm enjoying the conversation, why not?
- 7. its free food
- 8. it can not hurt
- 9. yes, interesting conversation
- 10. it will be fun/I'm bored/I want to get to know the person.
- 11. lunch or coffee is casual and i'm always up for some good conversation even if it won't go any further than that
- 12. if the person seemed at all interesting, it'd be a fun way to spend time, and dating/going on a date is just a way to get to know people. Plus people at Stanford take dates too seriously.
- 13. I'm always interested in meeting new people
- 14. why not?
- 15. well ... it depends on if I'm interested in them sexually or not, quite honestly.
- 16. I don't mind getting to know people.
- 17. It would be a good chance to get to know someone new
- 18. I'm always up for meeting new people
- 19. any social interaction is a positive thing
- 20. it's a great opportunity to meet someone new.
- 21. For someone to take interest in me is rare
- 22. it's nice to meet new people
